New England's Monthly Numismatic Catalog

NERCG Offers World Coins

This month, New England Rare Coin Galleries' new World Coin Division opens its doors to Inventory Selections readers by presenting its first offering of rare foreign and ancient coinage. Foreign and ancient coin collecting is currently experiencing an unprecedented surge of popularity here in the U.S. — because American collectors are finding that high-quality ancient and foreign coins are still extremely affordable. Moreover, the beauty and vast historicity of world coinage represents an exciting and unique collecting opportunity. Here are pieces of art by some of the world's most renowned engravers and sculptors. Here are gold and silver mementoes of wars, kings, queens and the rise and fall of empires. Here, too, is an unparalleled opportunity to affordably collect artifacts that represent over 2,000 years of human history.

All of the world coins offered in this month's Inventory Selections have been graded by New England's own professional numismatists. World coin cataloging has been executed by our new World Coin Division Manager, Frank Garofalo. For a brief profile on Frank, see this month's Gallery Window. And look for more World Coin offerings in succeeding issues of Inventory Selections.

Also in this issue, you'll find a coupon for ordering New England Rare Coin Auctions' latest catalog, the 1979 New England Fall Auction Catalog. The 1979 New England Fall Auction will be held on November 9-10. And it will feature some outstanding rare coin offerings, including: virtually complete collections of Two Cent Pieces, Bust Half Dimes, and Mint State Barber Dimes; over 100 lots of 5¢ Nickels (including many key dates), Mint State and Proof Half Dollars, and Twenty Dollar Gold (including U.S. gold type sets); over 80 lots of Mercury Dimes, U.S. $5 Gold and U.S. $10 Gold; a virtually complete set of U.S. Commemoratives (including an original roll with many duplicates); and literally hundreds of other high-quality rare coin offerings. We urge you to order your 1979 New England Fall Auction Catalog now so that you can study it carefully and submit your mail bids before the November 9 deadline.

The Gallery Window

A special series profiling

New England Rare Coin Galleries' numismatic experts.

Frank Garofalo

The smiling, neatly dressed man speaks lucidly and quickly. Facts and anecdotes roll off his tongue with graceful ease. And as his words take shape, the pageantry and history of world coinage comes alive. "Collecting world coins is one of man's oldest hobbies, you know. Nero collected coins from Greece. Fourteenth century Italian nobles collected Roman coins. English gentlemen of old considered the study of ancient coins a crucial part of a proper education."

The speaker is Frank Garofalo, Manager of New England Rare Coin Galleries' new World Coin Division. His expertise in world coins comes from years of professional numismatic experience. "I've been a collector since 1958. But it wasn't until 1965, three years after I'd gone professional, that I turned from U.S. Coins to world coins. There was a natural attraction there because I was a world history buff. And I was astounded by the affordability of quality world coins."

Frank emphasizes that affordability is still a major characteristic of world coins today. "Today's world coin market is comparable to the U.S. coin market of 20 or 30 years ago. Their financial potential is just beginning to be appreciated — and some of the pieces I sold 2 years ago have already doubled in price."

Frank also cites world coins' unique points of interest for history and art enthusiasts. "Foreign countries — Germany in particular — constantly paraded their military victories on coinage. Foreign engravers were usually given much more artistic freedom than their U.S. counterparts. And ancient coins — which are really miniature pieces of ancient art — are unbelievable treasures. Imagine buying a 2,000-3,000 year old piece of ancient art for only $100-$1,000!"

Frank presently lives in southern New Hampshire with his wife, Corinne, and his 2-year-old son, Ross Anthony. When not involved with world coins, Frank serves as the A.N.A.'s New Hampshire District Representative; as advisory consultant for the New England Antiquities Research Association; and as a private collector of ancient terra cottas and bronzes. "But my most interesting role will be here at New England, because the World Coin Division, like the market, is in its infancy. Right now, we're just seeing the tip of the iceberg."

The 1979 New England Fall Auction Catalog

If you're searching for the finest in high-quality rare coinage, you should take a look through the 1979 New England Fall Auction Catalog. The New England Fall Auction is being held on November 9-10 by New England Rare Coin Auctions — the auction company selected to conduct the 1979 A.N.A. Auction. And, like all New England catalogs, the New England Fall Auction catalog is...

☐ Beautiful. Each page of the New England Fall Auction Catalog will be printed on heavy, high-gloss paper and laid out in the format you see here. Hundreds of crystal-clear coin photos will further enhance the catalog — each photo taken at New England's own facilities under the direct supervision of our expert numismatists.

☐ Informative. Each coin listed is graded and described with painstaking care. Immediately after the auction, catalog buyers will receive a complete list of prices realized.

☐ Easy to use. Our "wide-format" pages, measuring 11" wide, enable the New England Fall Auction Catalog to lie open by itself, on your lap or on a table, for easy use at auction or at home.

☐ Great coins. Because of New England Rare Coin Auctions' outstanding reputation (our A.N.A. Auction brought in more money for consignors than any other auction ever held by a single numismatic firm), some of the finest collectors in the world are selling their coins at this auction.

If you're looking to buy the best in rare coinage, you can't afford not to take a look at the 1979 New England Fall Auction Catalog.

This month, Inventory Selections is proud to bring you our first offering of ancient and foreign coinage from New England Rare Coin Galleries' World Coin Division. We think you'll be intrigued by the great beauty, historicity and variety of these pieces — and we are sure you'll be pleased by their quality. Each coin has been graded by New England's own professional numismatists and cataloged by World Coin Division Manager, Frank Garofalo. Frank has been a world coin professional for over a decade, and, due to his uncanny expertise in this field, he has been appointed to the New England Antiquities Research Association as a special advisory consultant on world coinage.

As you can see, all of New England's world coin offerings have been assigned convenient reference numbers. When ordering any of these coins, please refer to the coin by its reference number. This will make the ordering process quicker and easier for both you and your New England Professional Numismatist. Please note that grades have been assigned to each world coin according to the numerical A.N.A. grading scale (the same scale used for New England's U.S. rare coins).

To order any of these items — or for more information on world coins — call your New England Professional Numismatist toll-free: 800-225-6794 (in Massachusetts: 617-227-8800).

Market Report

by Tim LaPointe

At the shows

Rapidly rising gold and silver bullion prices seems to be pulling increasingly greater numbers of buyers into rare coins shows. Virtually all of the shows attended by New England numismatists in September were enjoying record attendances — even though none of these shows were considered major numismatic conventions. At the normally tranquil Northern California Numismatic Association Show (held September 13-16 in San Francisco), participants were amazed to see the aisles jammed with collectors and dealers looking to buy all the quality material they could find. New England numismatists report that company sales at this show were three times greater than last year. New England buying efforts, however, brought in fewer top-quality pieces — even though New England buyers spent more at this show than ever before. It seems that quality U.S. coinage everywhere continues to be expensive and hard to locate.

Meanwhile, the drop in the value of the U.S. dollar overseas has initiated heightened trading in the rare foreign and ancient coin markets. New England World Coin Division Manager, Frank Garofalo, reports trading heavy at the recent International Numismatic Society Show (held September 27-30 in Washington, D.C.). Look for continuing activity increases in this area as the dollar drops further.

Gold

With the price of gold bullion now approaching the $400 per ounce mark, demand for 20th century U.S. gold coinage is at an all-time high. This unprecedented demand has been spurred on by hundreds of media stories concerning gold and silver price rises. Stories about gold are appearing daily in local newspapers. National television news shows now regularly carry gold market prices. Major national publications like the Wall Street Journal and, most recently, Newsweek, have all done feature stories on gold and rare coins. Publicity like this is drawing more and more collectors and investors into the rare coin market, and is initiating considerable dealer demand for U.S. gold coinage in all uncirculated grades.

Indian Head Eagles and Half Eagles have been doing particularly well on the recent market, with prices at least doubling for virtually all top grades from September of last year to September of 1979. New England buyers also report it next to impossible to find choice $1, $2½ and $3 gold pieces at any price. And with the overall demand for gold climbing, collector interest in early-date gold finally appears to be catching up to collector interest in later-date pieces. New England recently purchased 1807 and 1813 Half Eagles which, within hours, were immediately snapped up by eager buyers. Interest in choice Carson City gold is also on the upswing. It seems that the once-plentiful supplies of Carson City pieces held by Swiss banks have been drained, and present owners are in no hurry to sell.

Silver

Silver, too, continues its upward climb. Silver bullion prices have broken the $15 per ounce barrier and are still moving upward. As a result, demand for choice silver coinage is booming. For example, two outstanding silver pieces were reportedly sold last month: an 1881 Trade Dollar in Proof-69 for $8,000, and an 1870 Seated Liberty Dollar in Proof-69 for a 5-figure amount. These premium prices indicate that quality-consciousness is growing rapidly in the silver coinage market.

Even silver dollars are enjoying greater prosperity than many market analysts had predicted. (Many analysts believed silver dollar prices would decline after this summer's incredibly active A.N.A. Convention in St. Louis.) Silver type coins remain as difficult to locate in good grades as they were in August, and quality silver pieces of all types are bringing premiums. An example: an 1899 Silver Proof Set in Proof-67 was reportedly sold to a dealer in September for over $12,000. With the market this active, New England numismatists are currently watching Mercury Dimes and Proof Walking Liberty Half Dollars closely. These two coin types appear underpriced and relatively available on today's market, and collector demand is likely to focus upon them in the months ahead.

Other news

In nickel coinage, high-grade Buffalo Nickels (in every date) and war-year Jeffersons seem to be moving upward most rapidly. Copper coinage, however, is remaining fairly stable — except, of course, for high-grade pieces which are benefiting from the overall market's growing quality-consciousness. A relatively underpriced copper series being watched by New England market analysts is Two Cent Pieces.

Commemorative Coinage has shown strong growth during the last months, baffling some market watchers who thought prices had peaked some time ago. According to a report by Coin Dealer Newsletter, every grade of Commemorative coinage, whether gold or silver, has moved upward in the past few weeks. Most market analysts trace this strong showing, once again, to soaring gold and silver prices.

October, 1979

The figures in this month's Numismatic Price Index indicate weighted average price trends from August 31, 1979 through September 30, 1979.

Copper	↑ 13.0%
Nickel	↑ 11.5%
Silver	↑ 10.8%
Gold	↑ 18.6%
Coins under $500	↑ 6.1%
Coins $501-$2,000	↑ 18.8%
Coins over $2,000	↑ 11.3%
Overall Market Activity	↑ 11.3%

The figures above were derived by tracing the price movements of a balanced, representative sample of U.S. rare coins — including 144 major type and better date coins — in MS-65 or Proof-65 condition for the period of one month. The Numismatic Price Index is compiled by and 1979 by Jay C. Miller.

A friend of mine showed me a 1922 Peace Dollar with ray markings from the reverse showing on the field above Liberty's head. He called them "suction marks" and said they were caused by the tremendous air pressure at the moment the dies release from the planchet. This pressure "sucks" the design through the planchet, causing the marks I just described. But this explanation for the marks seems unlikely to me. If the vacuum created was really sufficient to pull the design through the coin, the design on the other side should appear sunken, shouldn't it? — R.M., Cambridge, MA

Because it is difficult to determine exactly what happens inside a modern, high-speed coin press at the instant after impact with a planchet, the origin of "suction marks" has never been definitively explained. Some numismatists hold to the suction theory that your friend explained to you. Others, however, feel that suction marks originate due to clashed dies — i.e. dies that have come together without a planchet between them. This causes the dies to impress each other and all coins struck from such dies bear "wrong side" elements.

Seeing your U.S. Currency selection in the September Inventory Selections reminded me that about 6 months ago I heard some paper money collectors at a coin show excitedly talking about a "watermelon note" they'd seen at a dealer's table. Do you know what watermelon notes are, and do you have any in stock? — B.C., Masonville, CO

The term "watermelon note" refers to $100 and $1,000 Treasury notes issued between 1890 and 1891. The reverse of these notes features large, plump zeroes which, because of their shape and twisted-ribbon stripes, resemble watermelons. Both watermelon notes are extremely rare and New England has none in inventory at the present time. In fact, our buyers remember seeing only three examples of the $100 denomination and one specimen of the $1,000. (Our photograph of the $1,000 reverse is taken from Robert Friedberg's Paper Money of the United States and appears courtesy of Krause Publications, Iola, Wisconsin.)

These notes, by the way, are sometimes referred to as "Coin Notes" rather than Treasury Notes. This is because the notes were originally issued by the government in payment for silver bullion. Thus, the watermelon notes, and all Treasury Notes with Friedberg numbers from 347 to 379, became backed by "coinable" reserves of metal.

Why is P.T. Barnum pictured on the Bridgeport, Connecticut Commemorative? Wasn't he something of a scoundrel? — F.T., Orlando, FL — F.T., Orlando, FL

Phineas T. Barnum, the famous showman, publicist, and exhibitor of freaks and "humbugs," may have acquired an unsavory reputation in the rest of the world, but Bridgeport, Connecticut remembers him with great civic pride. Barnum served as mayor of Bridgeport and did much to make the town into the thriving industrial city it is today. Later, he served in the Connecticut Legislature and even ran for the U.S. Congress. For these reasons, and because he was easily Bridgeport's most famous citizen, the officials of the Bridgeport Centennial Commission decided to place the showman's bust on the obverse of the 1936 Bridgeport Centennial Half Dollar.

It is also interesting to note that the eagle on the reverse of the Bridgeport Commemorative represents the high-water mark of "modernism" in the treatment of this familiar device. Henry G. Kreiss, the coin's designer, was apparently a student of modernistic engraving. He was also responsible for the earlier Connecticut Tercentenary Half Dollar which features a similarly stylized eagle. Members of the Fine Arts Commission were reportedly so shocked by Kreiss's original design for the Connecticut coin that one wrote: "the eagle looks like some kind of dove sitting on a couple of posts." But Kreiss won over the Commission after making slight revisions in his design. Two years after the issue of the Connecticut Tercentenary, Kreiss's highly modernistic eagle on the Bridgeport coin was quickly approved.

I just wanted to write and tell you that I just narrowly missed completing my Half Eagles collection at your A.N.A. Auction. I had [my bidder-representative] bid on your 1894-0, but it seems I set my limit just a little too low. [My bidder-representative] tells me that two other collectors on the floor bid right past him when he stopped with my maximum bid. Too bad the coin appears so infrequently at auction. — B.P., Montclair, NJ

It's true that the 1894-0, with only 16,600 minted, is a scarce issue and high-quality specimens are rarely offered at auction. According to David W. Akers' U.S. Half Eagles 1795-1929, the 1894-0 has only appeared at auction 42 times in MS or AU grades over the last 35 years.

However, New England Rare Coin Auctions has offered quality 1894-0 Half Eagles quite frequently in the recent past, and we will be offering yet another specimen (in AU-50) in our upcoming New England Fall Auction (to be held November 9-10 at the Hyatt-Regency Hotel here in Boston). If you'd like to bid on the coin, use the coupon which appears elsewhere in this issue of Inventory Selections and send for your copy of the 1979 New England Fall Auction Catalog. And for bidding help, call our toll-free "Auction Line": 800-225-6794, Ext. #99 (in Massachusetts: 617-227-8800, Ext. #99). Our Auction Line staff will give you complete information on any coin you're interested in. They'll even provide you with an estimated price range within which the successful bid for the coin you want is expected to fall.

GRADING OF U.S. CURRENCY

FAIR	— Discernible as to type.
G	— Heavy soiling, may have tears, worn design.
VG	— Exhibits much wear but will be completely intact. No missing pieces, no major tears.
F	— Well circulated but free of tears, usually has three or more folds. May be heavily soiled in places.
VF	— Retains much original brightness, but obvious breaks in ink at folds. Moderate to light soiling.
EF	— More obvious signs of circulation, obvious folds but no breaks in the ink. Moderate to light soiling.
AU	— Shows traces of folds or creases and more obvious surface wrinkles. A choice example may border on CU, and display a circulation crease when viewed by reflected light.
CU NOTE	— A Crisp Uncirculated note, has seen no circulation but may have some light fading, with some natural surface wrinkles. A hint of a teller's counting crease may exist, and currency may even have a pinhole or two. Still a Choice or Gem example depending upon centering, crispness and color.
NEW NOTE	— Just as it came from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Choice or Gem depending upon vividness of color and centering.

Our Complete Numismatic Services

1. Guarantees

☐ Grading

We guarantee that coins purchased from New England Rare Coin Galleries are graded accurately. They will meet our high standards whenever you decide to sell them. If you sell them to us, we guarantee to purchase them at the same grade as they were when originally purchased from us.

Our grading system is patterned after that of the American Numismatic Association. Developed in 1978, the A.N.A. System is rapidly being adopted by virtually the entire professional numismatic community. Its designations are:

Poor.....	1
Fair.....	2
About Good.....	3
Good.....	4,5
Very Good.....	8,10
Fine.....	12,15
Very Fine.....	20,25,30,35
Extremely Fine.....	40,45
About Uncirculated.....	50,55,58
Mint State.....	60,63,64,65,66,67,69,70
Proof.....	60,63,65,67,69,70

Slash grades indicate obverse/reverse designations. For example, a grade of 65/63 describes a coin with an obverse of Mint State 65 and a reverse of Mint State 63.

☐ Authenticity

We further guarantee that all coins sold by New England Rare Coin Galleries are authentic. To protect our customers, and as proof of our certainty that no altered or counterfeit coin can escape our attention, we guarantee to refund the full purchase price plus 15% compound annual interest, on any non-authentic coin acquired from us.

☐ Documentation

These guarantees are issued in writing with all coins purchased from New England Rare Coin Galleries. Each written guarantee is personally endorsed by two professional numismatists.

☐ Satisfaction

If, for any reason, you are not satisfied with your purchases, you may return them within 45 days of the date you received them for a full refund or replacement.
